1810 Pacific Avenue – Via House

The Via House was built in 1928 by Dr. Guy Via, a well-known physician, and is the only example of the Norman Farmhouse Style in Forest Grove. The exterior and interior retain excellent integrity. The 1 and ½ story house has a steeply pitched cross gable roof, a slope roof on the front gable and gambrel roof on the side gable. The house features hipped roof dormers, arched entryways, large picture window, leaded glass windows, prominent exterior chimney and stucco siding with a rough textured finish.
